PUERTO RICAN ENTERS PLEA OF INNOCENT

Washington, Nov. 17.—(P)—Oscar Collazo, accused of two capital crimes for his part in attempting to assassinate President Truman, pleaded innocent at his arraignment in the U. S. district court today.

After hearing the four-count indictment read, Collazo told District Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut: "I plead not guilty, your honor."

Those were the only words spoken by the small, meek looking Puerto Rican. Thirty-seven year old Collazo was neatly dressed in a brown suit.

Leo A. Rover, chief of three court-appointed defense attorneys, argued vigorously against rushing Collazo to trial. U. S. District Attorney George Morris Fay told Judge Schweinhaut that the prosecution was not attempting to take the Collazo case out of order, but "we do insist that the government is entitled to a speedy trial."

After hearing the attorneys, Judge Schweinhaut fixed no trial date. He said, however, that he did not believe the case should be delayed until Feb. 15, a date suggested by Rover.

The court's assignment commissioner had suggested that the case be set down for trial Dec. 13, a date favored by Fay.

Rover hinted that the defense might rely on an insanity plea to save Collazo from the electric chair. He said the defense lawyers are concerned "with the mental condition of the defendant."

Murder and housebreaking with intent to murder are the chief charges against Collazo.

One White House guard was killed in the gunfire Collazo participated in Nov. 1 in front of Blair House.

Rover told the court that the defense lawyers have moved as rapidly as possible since their appointment and added that they were confronted with "serious problems, particularly of law."

New Delhi Rejects Protest Over Tibet

New Delhi, India, Nov. 17.—(P)—Communist China has brusquely rejected a second Indian protest at the military invasion of Tibet, an official government spokesman said today.

Peiping's reply to an Indian note calling the use of force against peaceful Tibetans an unwarranted act further endangering world peace was received today.

Red China declared India had no right to "interfere" in what the Communists consider an internal Chinese affair.

The answer placed before Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's government a tough decision—whether to firmly support the Tibetan neighbor's charges of Red Chinese aggression now before the United Nations, or try to sidestep the issue in an effort to cling to a neutral position in east-west world politics.

The spokesman said the Peiping note still was being studied.

President Appears Ready To Renew Battles With Congress For His "Fair Deal" Program

Washington, Nov. 17.—(P)—President Truman, outwardly happy and scrappy, evidently was ready today to renew battle with the new and old congresses for his "fair deal" program.

On the political front, Mr. Truman discounted the election victories of Republicans, reiterated his backing for Secretary of State Acheson, refused to back down on his controversial domestic program and dodged questions about whether he may run again.

The president told his first post-election news conference he expects the lame duck session of congress meeting Nov. 27 to approve an excess profits tax, another big chunk of military appropriations, statehood for Alaska and Hawaii and an extension of rent controls.

Almost nobody in congress—including his own legislative lieutenants—shared Mr. Truman's optimism on this score.

The president said he was not calling congress back early, as he had said he might do, because the request for more funds to finance the fighting in Korea and the nation's military buildup still is being whipped into shape.

There was every sign that congress would approve any such measure.

But senate action is doubtful on any excess profits tax bill that might be passed in the house early in December. Senator Taft of Ohio, who heads the Republican policy committee, has said he doesn't believe any action will come in the short session.

Southern Democratic delaying tactics may crop up against house-approved bills to grant statehood to Hawaii and Alaska. The Republicans may help out on this.

Despite Republican victories in last week's election, Mr. Truman made it plain that when he reports to the new 82nd Congress in January on the state of the nation he will wrap up again all of the "Fair Deal" proposals he said he had been making since World War II ended.

The AFL and the CIO called today for a tougher tax on abnormal business profits than that proposed by President Truman.

While supporting the administration's call for an excess profits tax, the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations said the levy should be stiff enough to bring it up to $7,000,000,000 a year in new revenue. The president had suggested $4,000,000,000.

The AFL set its sights on "between $6 and $7 billion."

The AFL agreed with the president's proposed tax rate of 75 per cent on business profits which exceed a predetermined normal rate. But it suggested a tightening of the formula to broaden the tax base on the basis of invested capital.

The CIO urged that the excess profits tax rate be 85 per cent instead of 75 per cent as the administration proposed.

Both groups endorsed the suggestion of Secretary of the Treasury Snyder that the years 1946 through 1949 be used as a base from which to determine the amount of earnings that are excessive.

Both agreed with Mr. Truman that the tax should be retroactive to last July 1 and that small business should be given special consideration.

CASUALTY LIST

Washington, Nov. 17.—(P)—The defense department identified 38 Korean war casualties in a list (No. 153) published today. The total included 35 killed in action or dead of wounds and three injured in accidents.

BELL SEEKING INJUNCTION IN PHONE STRIKE

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—(P)—Union officials accused the Western Electric Company today of "trying to bust up" their union.

And Henry F. Shipperd, president of the Philadelphia Industrial Union Council (CIO), pledged extra pickets and financial support to help the members of the Communications Workers of America, in the ninth day of a nationwide strike.

"We are not going to stand by and see a smaller union taken advantage of," Shipperd said.

He blamed police-picket battles at Philadelphia telephone exchanges earlier this week on company tactics. He said the company, an affiliate of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., had gotten private detectives to organize flying wedges of employees to crash picket lines with police aid.

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania went into court today seeking an injunction that would bar the strikers from picketing Bell exchanges.

Massed pickets prevented telephone girls from going to work for two hours on two different occasions here earlier this week.

J. Frank Cox, general manager of Bell's eastern operations, told Judge Frank Smith that the company and its employees are on "the best of terms."

Counsel for Bell said that since its workers, members of an independent union, are not on strike, picketing should not be permitted.

M. H. Goldstein, attorney for the union, presented Lock 72, of the union, argued that Western Electric employees install equipment at Bell exchanges.

Fists flew and tempers flared outside Philadelphia exchanges last Tuesday and Wednesday as Bell operators sought to pass through picket lines established by striking Western Electric Company equipment workers.

13 Meet Death In Mid-Air Collision

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 17.—(P)—A collision in flight of two giant planes engaged in the U. S. Air Force newest refueling operation has ended in flaming death for 13 airmen.

Ten others parachuted to safety after the four motor craft smashed together yesterday afternoon 50 miles west of Tucson over the southern Arizona desert.

The planes, a B-29 tanker and a B-50 bomber, engaged in a routine refueling operation, were seen to erupt in flames and plunge to the ground five miles north of the Papago Indian village of Sinaloaya on the Sells Reservation. The tanker is believed to have exploded.

Some of the crew members jumped and may have reached the ground safely, but were apparently caught in a deluge of flaming gasoline that sprayed over the area.

Another airman was unmarked on the upper part of his body while the lower portion had been crushed by a heavy piece of debris.

"The Air Force listed some of the 13 men missing since identifications had not been completed, but they were presumed dead."

Robert Moore, a reporter for The Tucson Daily Star who flew to the scene, reported there were indications all of the airmen attempted to get out of the flaming craft.

QUICKIES By Ken Reynolds

Constance Kretschmar Mock of Chicago, daughter and heir of Howard Sigismund Kretschmar, Chicagoan, who died in 1933.

Each of the heirs would get an estimated $2,000,000. The U. S. government and the State of Pennsylvania would split up the remaining $13,000,000, most of it as taxes.

The heirs of the third cousin recognized by the recommending board, Johann Peter Schaffer, of Bad Nauheim, Germany, who died in 1945, probably will get nothing. The government, under an act which bars enemy aliens from inheriting U. S. property, has claimed that share. The U. S. still is technically at war with Germany.

The three designated as heirs in the findings were Howard and Herman Kretschmar, brothers, who were nephews of Mrs. Garrett's mother, and Schaffer, who was a nephew of Mrs. Garrett's father.

Annual Y. M. C. A. Campaign Is Over the Top With Grand Total of 656 Members

Following in the footsteps of the recent Community Chest's very successful campaign—the people of Warren have registered another victory last evening on the score board of the YMCA Membership Campaign by going over the goal of 600 members in one week.

Howard Alexander, president of the YMCA, and the energetic leadership of the division leaders Charles Koebly of the winning Blue division, assisted by Larry Summers as associate leader, and Grover Lind, leader of the Gold division did a most commendable job of signing up members for the YMCA.

The spirit of friendly competition and fun prevailed throughout the drive, abetted by the prizes donated by local merchants to add to the fun of the weeks work.

Especially splendid work was done by the winning teams, and by the Blue division in taking the race this year for the first time in years with a high total of 358 members secured. High team honors went to team No. 9, Murray Cameron captain, with the splendid total of 114 members, and second place for the most members went to team No. 7, Milton Dahler captain, with 79 members.

Following the report the General Chairman, Howard Alexander, and Dan Walton, general secretary of the YM commented the workers for their splendid results, and especially the new captains on the team organization. The division leaders, Charles Koebly and Grover Lind, also expressed their thanks to the team members for their excellent contribution of time and effort.

The standing of the teams after the report last evening was as follows:—Gold division, Grover Lind, Leader, Team No. 1, David Potter, captain, 47 members, 6280 points; Team No. 2, George Frantz, captain, 55 members, 5970 points; Team No. 3, Allen Templeton, captain, 66 members, 8460 points; Team No. 4, Wendell Lawson, captain, 73 members, 7015 points; and Team No. 5, F. H. Kretschmar, captain, 57 members, 5670 points. Total members for the Gold division, 298.

The Blue division, Charles Koebly, division leader, and Harry Summers, associate leader; team No. 6, Joseph Krimmel, captain, 56 members, 5240 points; team No. 7, Milton Dahler, captain, 79 members, 8295 points; team No. 8, James Potter, captain, 51 members, 5670 points. (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Teletype Circuits Are Paralyzed By Pittsburgh Blaze

Pittsburgh, Nov. 17.—(P)—Fire on the penthouse of the 21-story Bell Telephone Company building in downtown Pittsburgh, paralyzed news teletype circuits to newspapers, radio and police stations over a wide area of western Pennsylvania today.

The fire late yesterday did little actual damage but the tons of water poured on the blaze seeped through to the 20th floor and knocked out vital communication links.

Pittsburgh phone service was not affected.

Telephone company officials called in emergency crews to restore the teletype circuits but a spokesman said at 8 a. m. today, he could not guarantee when service will resume.

The telephone company spokesman said the fire apparently started from a motor near a ventilating fan shaft.

The blaze scattered pickets who have been parading in front of the Bell Telephone Company since the nationwide strike of CIO communication workers.

Late last night the Independent Federation of Telephone Workers has been honoring the picket lines gave permission to its members to enter the building and help repair the damage.

(The Associated Press teletypes in the Times-Mirror news room were still disrupted when the service started early this morning, but the situation was cleared up about nine o'clock.)

Pittsburgh Papers To Start Regular Editions Saturday

Pittsburgh, Nov. 17.—(P)—An agreement to end Pittsburgh's six-week long shutdown of its three daily newspapers was reached at 6:25 a. m. today.

The agreement came after all night negotiating sessions with non striking unions which had demanded back pay as the result of a mail us' strike which started Oct. 16 and ended last Tuesday.

State Chamber of Commerce Against Increase In Business Taxes In 1951

Harrisburg, Nov. 17.—(P)—The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce came out today against any increases in business taxes by the 1951 session of the legislature.

President Roy C. McKenna, of Latrobe, told the chamber at its annual convention that the financial needs of the state government in the next two years are "still obscure," adding:

"We are encouraged by the possibility held out in some quarters that the 1951 session of the Pennsylvania legislature might be able to avoid the imposition of new or additional taxes."

At the same time McKenna said the State Chamber "is prepared to oppose increases in present business taxes, in view of the very substantial share of Pennsylvania's tax burden already borne by business."

The State Chamber held its annual convention as Governor-elect John S. Fine studied the commonwealth's financial situation with a view of determining whether new taxes would be necessary to carry the state's building program and other increases in government costs.

The Republican platform, on which Fine was elected, voiced a hope that higher state taxes could be avoided because of increased revenue from existing levies due to top production and lower relief costs because of full employment.

CIVIL COURT

The November term of civil court will convene at 10 a. m. Monday with a long list of jury trials. Part of the list will be deferred until February, according to Judge Allison D. Wade.

HITS UTILITY POLE

Pittsburgh, Nov. 17.—(P)—An automobile plowed into an iron utility pole on Liberty Avenue in Lawrenceville today, killing the driver, a 40-year-old Braddock man.

The victim was Stanley J. Schubert, a beer salesman for the Pittsburgh Brewing Company. Police said Schubert apparently fell asleep or suffered a heart attack at the wheel.

Unless the contracting company is able to find work elsewhere, many of its employees plan to stay in Corry through the winter, repairing company equipment.

Routine business was discussed and bills were reported paid by secretary-treasurer Allan P. Lindell.

B-B GUN ORDINANCE

Attempts by members of Meadville city council to introduce an ordinance outlawing the sale of air rifles and air pistols in the city hit a snag as a special meeting yesterday Chief complaints against the proposed law came from a sporting goods dealer and a spokesman for the Meadville Rifle Club. Both pointed out that the best way to stop air rifle accidents was to teach safety. The ordinance was submitted at the request of the chief of police. Two councilmen also objected to the ordinance and the matter was temporarily dropped when the second to a motion for admitting the ordinance was withdrawn.

Venango Borough Man Is Victim Of Mystery Shooting

Meadville, Nov. 17—A Venango borough hunter was mysteriously shot in the body by a high-caliber bullet Thursday evening while crossing a fence near his car.

Walter Straw, 68, former hardware merchant in Venango, is in fair condition in Meadville City Hospital. The bullet entered between his fourth and fifth ribs and has not yet been removed.

State Police from here described the shooting as follows:

Straw had gone hunting about 2 p. m. three miles west of Venango. About 5 o'clock he was emerging from the woods and started to step over a fence.

A shot rang out. Straw fell backwards to the ground.

While he was lying there, Monty Concilia, 10, of Route 3, Saegertown, found him. He was accompanying his father and brother who were hunting. They thought Straw was dead and left to call State Police. When the latter arrived, the victim was gone.

It developed that meanwhile Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Lockhart of Route 2, Coraopolis, heard the shot and investigated. They found Straw leaning against the fence, obviously injured. They took him to his home and later to the hospital.

Police said all persons in the vicinity, including those who found the Venango man were using shot-guns and were ruled out as possible suspects. The person doing the shooting has not been located or identified.

Ray Milland and Hedy Lamarr in The Mightiest of All Western Adventures "Copper Canyon" (filmed in Technicolor) at The Columbia Theatre

Bristling with action from start to finish, Paramount's "Copper Canyon" is sure-fire entertainment for moviegoers from six to sixty. Starring Hedy Lamarr, Ray Milland, Macdonald, Carey, Mona Freeman and Harry Carey, Jr., this rip-roaring Technicolor film, which is now playing at the Columbia Theatre, piles thrill upon thrill in spectacular fashion.

An eye-filling production that contains some of the most beautiful Technicolor shots this reviewer has ever seen, "Copper Canyon" weaves its action-cramped story around a vaudeville trick-shot artist who aids a group of miners fighting a land-grabbing business syndicate. No ordinary western, this one is loaded with enough pulse-pounding entertainment for two pictures.

As the expert marksman joins the underdogs in their battle, Ray Milland has a role that is off the beaten track for him. But he handles it brilliantly, particularly in the rough-and-tumble sequences in which the film abounds.

Looking more beautiful than ever in her second Technicolor picture, Hedy Lamarr turns in an adroit performance as the owner of a dance hall and saloon. She makes of Lisa Roselle a fiery, passionate woman whose actions are governed by her heart rather than her head.

Action highlight of the picture is the spectacular gun-battle climax that has Milland and his men shooting it out with the crooked deputies led by Macdonald Carey. For sheer excitement, it has rarely been equaled.

County U. S. D. A. Council Convenes

The November meeting of the Warren County USDA Council was held in the office of the U. S. Forest Service, post office building, Warren. The meeting was in charge of Harold W. Geiger, chairman of the council.

Following the routine business, the chairman mentioned three statements from the secretary of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The first dealt with management improvement in our daily jobs so that the best possible results are attained with a minimum cost in dollars and manpower. The second and third statements dealt with the school lunch program and surplus farm commodities.

The program for the group was presented by Richard J. Costley, supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest. Mr. Costley and Dan Taft, his administrative assistant, explained the national and regional organization of the Forest Service including its operation costs. He then brought the picture closer to home with a fine explanation of the Allegheny National Forest, its history, progress and future plans. Everyone present expressed appreciation for the fine talk.

Those present included: Andrew J. Donick, Pa. Employment Service; T. R. Sponsler, County Vocational Adviser; M. D. Rhodes, Rural Electrification Administrator; Richard J. Costley, Forest Service; Dan Taft, Forest Service; Harold W. Geiger, S. C. S.; Lloyd Price, P. M. A.; Carl G. Peterson, P. M. A.

Group of Toronto Masons Enjoy Visit With Local Lodge

One of the final events of the 100th anniversary of North Star Lodge No. 241, Free & Accepted Masons, highlighted with special programs each month this year, was the visitation by a group of 40 members of St. Alban's Lodge, No. 514 A. F. and M., of Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Other lodges represented by one member each, boosting the total number of visitors to 45, were: Lodges Nos. 65, 328, 531 and 571, of Toronto, and Lodge No. 180, Guelph, Ontario, Canada.

The delegation from St. Alban's lodge was headed by Walter M. Leake, worshipful master; Ernest Garrett, senior warden, and Garrett F. Frankland, secretary. H. Samuel McHenry was introduced as the oldest living past master having served as worshipful master in 1918.

The meeting was attended by William E. Yeager, right worshipful grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, who was accompanied by the following grand lodge members: Henry O. Walker, grand sword bearer; the Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, grand chaplain, and Roy M. Krebs, district deputy grand master.

So far as Masonic lodges in this area are concerned, it is believed this was the first visitation of its kind in history, and the Canadian visitors expressed themselves as highly delighted with their experiences in Warren and the cordial hospitality extended them.

MacKenzie's Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
A. P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

Captain Liddell Hart, internationally known British military analyst, states in a studied estimate of the global crisis that "the chances of peace and war are closely balanced—almost on a knife edge."

That is one of the conclusions in Liddell Hart's outspoken new book, "Defense of the West" (William Morrow and Co., New York). Amplifying this uncomfortable appraisal, he says:

"One may doubt whether any government wants another war, but it is hard to see how it can be avoided if the present tension persists. The 'iron curtain' that now divides the world fulfills its name all too well in preventing peaceful communication, but it is only a tin curtain in other respects. A large extent of it has no strength as a military barrier, and it is not sound-proof against the roaring on either side of it."

Liddell Hart believes that there are three ways in which another world war might be detonated.

One way would be a direct clash between the U. S. A. and Soviet Russia. Another would be a conflict between Russia and states other than America but within the latter's sphere of interest—for example a Russian threat to European members of the Atlantic Pact.

"A third way," says the author, "is from a conflict arising between states that the two giant powers respectively support—a duel that 'seconds' begin and the principals join in."

Captain Liddell Hart says the Pacific is the most likely area where a direct clash between America and Russia might arise. The other two cases might develop anywhere in Europe, the Middle East or south-east Asia.

"An outbreak in Europe," says the author, "would be the most dangerous both in its form and for the future of western civilization."

Captain Liddell Hart points out that "humanity is now faced with the potential menace of the hydrogen bomb" and he continues:

"Such a bomb, if successfully developed, could have an immensely greater devastating power than the present atom bomb. Leading scientists have estimated the blast as over 1,000 times more powerful, and the likely area of devastation as at least 100 times greater. x x x There seems to be general agreement that a single bomb of this kind could wipe out the largest of cities—if it could be delivered to the target."

These are but a few of the points discussed by Captain Liddell Hart in his comprehensive survey.

Today's Business Mirror

By RADER WINGET
(For Sam Dawson)

New York.—(AP)—New and widening economic shock-waves are being felt by business and industry as a result of the nation's rearmament drive.

The effect of the cutback in civilian production to permit expansion of armament output is going beyond those industries immediately affected by government regulation.

It is extending to secondary businesses that have no direct connection with the war.

The impact fundamentally comes from dislocation of the labor market brought on by temporary local unemployment in the midst of the most acute labor shortage since the last war.

The latest count shows employment of 61,674,000 in October, the highest on record for that month. Unemployment dropped to 1,940,000, the lowest in two years.

Everybody connected with war production is demanding more workers, and the military establishment itself is taking men as fast as they can be trained. The military has called 250,000 men since June.

Nevertheless, further temporary unemployment and serious dislocation of the labor market is forecast as the economy changes its hue from civilian to military.

Spokesmen for organized labor are worried. Retailers wonder what their sales pattern will be like after Christmas.

The announced government aim is to speed up military activity enough to take up immediately all slack caused by a letdown in civilian activity.

But William H. Harrison, administrator of the National Production Authority, admits some unemployment will result from the 35 per cent cut in civilian aluminum supplies.

There, basically, it is a case of how long it takes a worker to stop making pots and pans for housewives and start making mess kits for soldiers.

With cutbacks in other strategic metals impending, there will be unemployment in industries using those metals until they or others can get geared for military production.

In automobiles a 25 per cent cut in passenger car output is predicted for Jan. There will be layoffs. And here again, so speak, it is a case of how long a worker has to wait after he stops making civilian jeeps before he starts making military jeeps.

From Grand Rapids comes reports that some furniture makers are having trouble filling their orders because they can't get enough men for their factories. Their workers are being snatched for the army and lured into other industries.

Nothing much can be done about competition with the military for manpower. But when it comes to trying to keep workers from going into higher paying jobs elsewhere, the average employer fights back with pay raises and other benefits.

That is reflected in the September report of the Bureau of Labor statistics showing wage settlements being made at the fastest rate on record. Some 220,000 workers got pay increases in September and labor department observers think the pace will continue for the rest of 1950.

Most important is the settlement the CIO United Steelworkers union makes in current negotiations with the United States Steel Corp. Best guess is 17 cents an hour and other benefits. What big steel does with the million-man steel union is expected in the industry to set the pattern generally for all allied industries.

Most producers have too much at stake to let some rival outbid them in the labor market.

These is an awareness in Washington of the possibility that the war effort could be disrupted by labor pitting, and government control of jobs and workers is hinted. Robert C. Goodwin, executive director of the Office of Defense Manpower, said: "We should abstain from mandatory controls so long as it is possible for us to do so."

Built for tough service — all ways!

CHEVROLET TRUCKS

with Chevrolet's Hypoid Rear Axle

Single-Unit Housing

Here's maximum strength... longer trouble-free service! Chevrolet rear axle housings are formed into tubular steel beams; no bolts or rivets to work loose.

Full-Size Inspection Plates

Easy-to-remove, one-piece inspection plate saves time and labor... provides full view of rear axle gears when removed.

Splined Axle-to-Hub Connection

Splines—not bolts—deliver the driving power evenly—without strain—on all heavy-duty models. Loose axle shaft bolts and costly grease leaks are eliminated.

Straddle-Mounted Pinion

Gears last longer... pinion gear is supported at each end by ball bearings to keep it in mesh. Adjustable thrust pad prevents distortion of ring gear when starting heavy-duty trucks with heavy loads.

4-Pinion Differential

Load and shock of heavy loads are distributed over four pinions instead of two in all Chevrolet medium- and heavy-duty trucks—for longer axle life and greater strength.

Chevrolet trucks are engineered to "take it" on the roughest, the toughest jobs. The single-unit design housing and splined axle-to-hub connection of Chevrolet's hypoid heavy-duty rear axle mean strength and stamina found in no other truck rear axle in Chevrolet's class. Combine that with other outstanding Chevrolet features... powerful Valve-in-Head engines, Synchromesh transmissions, channel-type frames with alligator-jaw cross members! Here is the truck that can handle tough jobs... America's most popular truck. Come in and see these great Chevrolet trucks today.

Tips On Tuning

Football is limited to one game this week. WNAE-FM will be carrying the Missouri-Oklahoma game at 1:45 with Al Helfer and Art Gleason on hand to give you the word picture of the game. The Sunday Steelers game will be held on Thanksgiving Day which is going to be pretty badly kicked around for that day. The game starts at 12:15 which means that Warm-Up Time will be heard at 12:00 noon. The Warren news will be rescheduled for later in the afternoon along with some other programs that will be misplaced.

Lyric soprano Nancy Carr will make her fourth starring appearance of the young 1950-51 operetta season when Mutual's "Chicago Theater of the Air" musical feature presents its radio adaptation of the Sigmund Romberg "The New Moon" on Saturday, Nov. 18 (10 to 11 p. m.) on WNAE-FM co-starred with Miss Carr will be baritone Bruce Foote.

The operetta relates the touching love story of Marianne Benoit and the handsome adventurer Robert Mission and is set in the atmosphere of the old French city of New Orleans.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor, publisher and world historian, will present another of his feature discussions of history-making events during this broadcast.

Miss Carr will sing the role of Marianne and Bruce Foote will be heard in the role of Robert Mission, her suitor. Starring in the dramatic roles will be Everett Clarke, John Barclay, Norman Gottschalk, Muriel Brenner and Maurice D. Copeland. Marion Claire will produce and narrate the program. Henry Weber will conduct the orchestra and Robert Trendler will direct the chorus.

Opera will be the theme for the trained canaries that are Mutual's "American Radio Warblers" during their broadcast next Sunday, Nov. 19 (1 to 1:15 p. m., WNAE-FM). The "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice" aria from Saint-Saens' "Samson and Delilah" is scheduled for group warbling along with a group of popular ballads, Preston Seilers accompanies the thrillers on the organ.

Railroading as it affects postal operations will be highlighted in a special documentary which the U. S. Post Office will present during Mutual's "Washington Report" broadcast Sunday, Nov. 19 (2:45 to 3 p. m., in WNAE-FM), the second of four special programs presented by postal authorities in this public service series.

The "Washington Report" programs are aired every Sunday afternoon by Mutual and are designed to acquaint the public with the behind-the-scenes activities of each of the many branches of the federal government. This four-broadcast grouping for the Post Office Department is particularly designed to point up the myriad, complex operations by the men in gray and to highlight the need for public compliance with the "Mail Early For Christmas" campaigns annually.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

FOR Thanksgiving, for any feast, you may want something "old yet new." Here's a pie combining the traditional cranberry with California oranges.

Orange-Cranberry Pie

One-half cup fresh orange juice, 2 1/4 cups sugar, 4 cups fresh cranberries, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons water, 1 cup California orange segments, 1 9-inch baked pie shell.

Combine juice and sugar in saucepan. Bring to a boil. Add cranberries and cook about 10 minutes, or until berries pop and are soft. Make a paste of cornstarch and water and stir into hot cranberry mixture.

Continue cooking until thick and clear. Remove from heat and cool. Fold in orange segments and pour into baked pie shell. Serve cold garnished with orange slices and mint leaves.

For Sunday supper or for a luncheon when the youngsters want to eat big, try this:

Cranberry Gingerbread

Two and one-half cups sifted enriched flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, 1 teaspoon each, ginger and cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 3/4 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 1/4 teaspoons soda, 1 cup unsulphured molasses, 1 cup whole cranberry sauce, 2 eggs, unbeaten; 1/4 cup milk.

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. (moderate). Sift together first six ingredients. Cream shortening, sugar, and soda. Add molasses and cranberry sauce. Stir in 1/2 cup flour mixture. Beat in eggs. Add remaining flour mixture alternately with milk. Beat 1/2 minute.

Bake 45 minutes or until done in a well-greased, lightly floured, 12 x 8 x 2-inch pan. Serve warm with molasses whipped cream. Yield: 12 servings.

SUNDAY MENU

BREAKFAST: Fruit cup, scrambled eggs and bacon, corn bread, butter or fortified margarine, marmalade, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Roast chicken, mushroom stuffing, giblet gravy, whipped potatoes, baked onions, canned peas, enriched rolls, butter or fortified margarine, green salad, orange-cranberry pie, cheese, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Creamed chicken and mushrooms on toast, hot biscuits, butter or fortified margarine, tart jelly, canned pears, cranberry gingerbread, tea, milk.

Salmon is the most valuable product of Canadian fisheries, with lobster second.

Margaret H. Blick - Robert A. Donham Wed In Calvary Baptist Church Rite

At 7:30 p. m. Thursday in Calvary Baptist church, the Rev. Fred T. Miller united in marriage Margaret Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Blick, 103 Lookout street, and Robert Allen Donham, son of Mrs. Harold Donham and the late Mr. Donham, Amelia, O.

Palms and two baskets of white pom poms were used in an altar setting for the candlelight ceremony. Candelabra were placed at the ends of pews marked with sprays of white pom poms and satin ribbons, and candles lighted each window.

While guests assembled, Mrs. Clarence Swanson, aunt of the bride, played a half-hour organ recital, using "Through the Years", "Liebestraum", "Sweetest Story Ever Told", "Evening Star", "Indian Love Call", "Moonlight Sonata", Meditation from "Thais". She also played the traditional marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn and was accompanist for the vocalist, Mary Hibner, whose numbers were "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us" and "I Love You Truly", with "O Perfect Love" sung softly during the ceremony.

The bride wore a colonial style gown of ivory slipper satin, with double fichu-collared, yoke and upstanding collar of Chantilly lace, long, tapering sleeves, and tiny buttons closing the bodice down the back. Seed pearls trimmed her Juliet cap of matching lace and her veil of illusion net fell fingertip length. Her tresses were a semi-colonial cascade of white pom poms, centered with a white orchid, and her only jewelry was the double-strand choker which was the bridegroom's gift.

She was given in marriage by her father and attended by Mrs. Myron Rydholm as matron of honor. Her blue taffeta gown was fashioned with a bertha, yoke of net, and short sleeves. Mitts matched her frock and her headband of yellow pom poms matched her semi-colonial cascade bouquet.

Mr. Rydholm served Mr. Donham as best man and ushers were Henry Blick, Jr., Cincinnati, O.; William Frederick and James Holmberg.

Mrs. Blick was attired in wine-colored crepe, with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of white pom poms.

The reception followed immediately in the YWCA, where Mrs. Victor Hornstrom and Mrs. William Frederick presided at a bride's table centered with white pom poms and candles. A separate table held the four-tiered wedding cake, which was served by Mrs. George Spangler. Kathryn Hibner was in charge of the guest book, in which 140 guests listed included relatives and friends from Cincinnati; Jamestown and Rochester, N. Y., and Erie.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a wine crepe dress, winter white hat and black accessories, with the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The newlyweds will make their home at 2334 St. James avenue, Cincinnati. Mrs. Donham, graduate of Warren High School and Warren Conservatory of Music in 1941, spent two years at Wheaton College; one year as chaplain's assistant in the U. S. Marine Corps, and for the past four years has been employed as secretary in the sales and traffic department of the United Refining Company. Mr. Donham graduated from Amelia High School in 1939, and spent three and one-half years in the Air Corps, serving as technical sergeant in search and rescue squadrons in China. He is presently employed by Chevrolet in the Cincinnati Division.

In addition to the rehearsal party given by the bride's parents, parties have been given by Mrs. William Frederick and Mrs. George Spangler; a dinner at the Blue-A-Wee by fellow office workers: Ellen Swanson; Mrs. John E. Allen and Mrs. Charles Armstrong; Mary and Kay Hibner.

COMING FOR PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Douglass and daughters, Gretchen and Karen, of Hamburg, N. Y., are arriving today for the open house to be held Saturday honoring Mr. and Mrs. Emil Johnson, 115 Water street. The party will be held at the Johnson home at 7:30 p. m. and marks the couple's 45th wedding anniversary.

PRESBYTERIAN EVENTS

★ RUTH MILLETT ★

Substitute 'Our' for 'My' In the Marriage Vocabulary

An indignant wife writes:

"Please tell me in your column what a woman should do when she learns that her husband, in order to make people think he is better off financially than he really is, leads them to believe that the property his wife has inherited is HIS property.

"He gets angry when I tell people the truth about whose property it really is."

That's easy—but you probably won't like my answer. Stop calling it "my" property, even when there is no one around you want to know "the truth."

You'd resign it, wouldn't you, if your husband labelled every cent he earns "my" money? Well, he has just as much right to resent your going around talking about "my" property, instead of "our" property.

As for your hating to see your husband enjoy a prestige you think he hasn't earned entirely on his own, I think that's a shabby attitude for a wife to take.

WIFE SHARES IN HUSBAND'S PRESTIGE

EVERY wife ought to want her husband to look as "big" as possible to other people. Anything she can contribute toward making him look "big" she should do gladly. After all, she shares in any prestige he has.

Why in the world would you, if you love your husband, prefer to have people think that you're the family big shot and that without your money your husband wouldn't amount to much?

Think it over and see if you wouldn't both be happier if you started thinking in terms of "our" instead of "my."

Marriage isn't a real partnership unless money is a mutual possession. And that goes for husbands as well as for wives.

WOMAN'S CLUB GUEST—For the Woman's Club meeting at 2:30 p. m. Monday, the Community Service Department will present as guest speaker Mrs. Harry W. Schaaf, Erie, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. A. C. Jackson, department chairman, urges every club member to be present for the meeting and tea, for which Mrs. Davidson Kennedy will be hostess.

Elected head of the state organization at the annual convention in Philadelphia in May, 1950, Mrs. Schaaf is the first Erieite ever to assume that office. Graduate of Irving College, with a bachelor of arts degree, she also possesses a bachelor's degree in music, and an honorary degree of doctor of music, presented by Thiel College. She has served on the state board as chairman of fine arts for two administrations, a total of six years. During one period of office, she was chairman of art; during the other, chairman of music. She has also been president of the Northwest District of the state federation and, prior to election to the presidency, completed a three-year term as first vice president.

In her talk to members of the Warren club Monday, she will explain the Federation and its work with the individual club.

Next Concert Number To Be November 30th

The Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce Music Committee reminds members of the Concert Series that the next attraction will be heard Thursday evening, November 30, in the Woman's Club auditorium.

The second concert of the season will bring to Warren the young violinist, Aaron Rosand. Originally another violinist, Mariam Solovteff, was scheduled to appear but several weeks ago she received an offer to tour Europe and this cancelled all her American engagements. Mr. Rosand was then secured by the music committee to take her place.

J. P. Nelson, chairman, again reminds that the house is sold out and no single admissions will be available.

Warren Residents At Presentation Held In Titusville

The Titusville Junior Chamber of Commerce received its official charter last night at a dinner meeting at the American Legion Hall attended by 50 members and guests.

The charter presentation was made by H. Vernon Ferster, president of the state organization, who outlined the five objectives of the Jaycees and quoted the Jaycee creed.

The program was opened by State Senator R. B. Mahany, the toastmaster. Lessor E. Levy, president of the Titusville Chamber of Commerce, gave the address of welcome, and Joseph D. Davidson, director of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke next.

Charles Tranter, Warren, vice president of the Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce, presented the president's pin to Charles Gum, president of the Titusville Jaycees. Mr. Gum responded and introduced fellow officers, members and guests.

Ken Carlson, president of the Warren Jaycees who sponsored the chapter, congratulated the group on its organization.

The five objectives of the Jaycees given by Mr. Ferster were:

1—To serve our state and nation by developing and selling Americanism.

2—Constructive projects to make our communities better places in which to live and rear children.

3—To develop leadership in our members.

4—To offer education, recreation, and social activities to young men of similar ages.

5—To give young men voice in the affairs in the community, state and nation.

There are about 200,000 Jaycees in the United States. In Pennsylvania, there are 65 organizations totaling about 4,300 members.

EPWORTH GROUP

The Young Adult Group of Epworth Methodist church will meet in the church parlors at 8 p. m. Saturday.

D. Singletory, 236 Oak St., tree trimmer for the Superior Co. in Louisville, Ky., thinks that keeping one's self in a good humor is about the most valuable asset a person can possess, and when your job requires personal contact with many different types of people, being good humored is not only being pleasant with one's self, it's an absolute necessity in business.

Here is Mr. Singletory's statement:

"Before I started taking HADACOL there wasn't a person in the world who could get along with me—seemed like the least little thing would upset me. I was tired all the time and it really affected my work. I had a hard time sleeping—just roll and toss and can't nap all night long. I didn't eat properly either. Then one day I heard how other folks with the same trouble I had were being helped by HADACOL. I tried it and noticed an improvement after the first couple of bottles. Now I feel good—get along with everybody. I'm not a bit nervous—sleep like a log and appetite—why, I can't hardly support myself. I eat so much. Yes, sir—HADACOL is really fine and I recommend it to all my friends."

Many Thousands are praising the wonders of HADACOL—folks whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. HADACOL is wonderful in the way it builds up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when iron is needed) to carry these great Vitamins and Minerals to every body organ—to every part of the body.

Now Is the Time to give HADACOL a chance to help you, as it has helped others whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL either the trial size, $1.25, or the large family or hospital size, $3.50, and if HADACOL does not help you, your money will be refunded. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Adv.

Youngsville Store Having Opening Saturday

Youngsville's East End store, under the ownership of Walter Forsberg and James Cowan, will welcome old and new customers today and tomorrow in a grand opening in connection with the remodeling of the establishment. The owners purchased the store, one of the Nation-Wide chain, from the late E. J. Abraham about five years ago. They have added a room to the southeast corner of the building for warehouse space, and to house the new coolers and cutting room, adding many square feet of floor space to the store itself. Cake and coffee will be served to all who visit the store during the celebration period. (Times-Mirror photo).

(For Hal Boyle)

Northeast Korea—(P)—Life being what it is in these parts—a grim mixture of cold and fifth and frontier conditions—I think when my travel orders come I'll settle for any old mode of transportation.

I won't insist on a first class stateroom in a luxury liner. I have my eye on a ragtag, bob-tailed fleet, put together with odds and ends of coastal craft, that is performing an heroic chore in supplying Allied troops.

It is the only fleet commanded by an army captain.

That doesn't stop me. As a World War II Marine, I'm used to hardships.

The captain, Borden T. Wright, 293 Santa Clara St., Oakland, Calif., has promised me a berth on his good ship "Flying Cloud."

It is not exactly the most luxurious vessel in the captain's 31-ship fleet, but its wooden hull is believed to be reasonably seaworthy.

FOUND DEAD IN CAR

A 65-year-old Andover, O., man was found dead, slumped over the steering wheel of his car on a lonely stretch of road in North Shenango township halfway between Espyville and the Ohio state line early Thursday morning.

The man, Ray Newton Swezey, died of a heart attack about 3 p. m. Wednesday, Crawford County Coroner Luther D. King said. State police said Swezey was slumped over the steering wheel, the car transmission in second gear and the ignition switch on.

After veering to the right side of the road the car apparently stalled, they said. Two Espyville youths, Ralph Robinson, 19, and Robert Griggs, 14, called police. They first noticed the car about 5 p. m., and Robinson saw it again at 9 p. m., and shortly after midnight. After seeing it the third time he called police. Swezey was taking a trailer-load of apples to the Robinson cider mill at Espyville, his family told police. He left Andover about 2 p. m. but was not missed by his family until late at night, because he often stopped for dinner with friends at Espyville, a member of the family said.

Many Questions Of Interest Discussed By Co. Motor Club

Fifteen members and the executive secretary, Mrs. Mary Corah, attended the November meeting of the board of governors of the Warren County Motor Club held last evening at the Blue & White restaurant.

With President A. A. Albaugh presiding many items of interest to motorists generally were discussed. Karl Grettenberger gave a comprehensive and interesting report on the recent annual meeting of the American Automobile Association at New York which he attended in company with Mrs. Grettenberger. President Albaugh also reported on the tour of Warren county roads sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

The meeting went on record as favoring the installation of flasher lights at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing on the south side near the Seneca Lumber Co. office. There was considerable discussion about the dangerous intersection at Venturietown on Route 62, and the club urged that a crossing be marked over the pavement at that point, along with installation of a blinker light, to aid residents and especially school children in getting to the east side of the highway.

The Jackson Run intersection on 62 at North Warren, also came in for discussion as a result of which the club will recommend that the post containing direction signs be erected on the west side of the highway, instead of the east side where it was located when it was broken off in the recent fatal collision at that point. It was brought out that the signs could be more easily distinguished by motorists coming out of the Jackson Run road, if it was on that side.

THE RAILROAD MURDER CASE

By R. M. Laurenson

Chapter 21

INSPECTOR ANDERSON sat hunched in his chair. He thumbed through a sheaf of fingerprint sheets. He was interrupted by the jangle of the telephone at his elbow.

"Yeah!" he barked. "Yeah—speaking. Who? Well, bring him up—bring him up."

The door to the office burst open and a burly cop unceremoniously pushed a tall, baby-faced man into the room.

Anderson glowered at the man who mopped a perspiring brow with a handkerchief.

"See here, what's the idea?" he blustered.

"Take it easy, buddy. What's your name?"

"George Miller."

"And your business?"

"I represent the Morgan Drug Company."

"A drummer, eh? What're you doing in Calumet? This your territory?"

"I'm here on business."

"So. You're here on business. What stores you visited? What business calls've you made since you been in town?"

"None of your business," replied Miller defiantly.

Anderson thumped the desk with his fist. "You listen to me, chum. You're on a spot. You better start giving some straight answers. How come you bought a ticket to Chicago yesterday, and got off here?"

"Good Lord! Murder! And you think I did it!" he gasped.

"I think lots."

"But I didn't do it, I tell you, I didn't do it!" Miller whispered, wringing moist hands.

HE was interrupted by the rattling of the door, and Marc Jordan entered.

"Well, well. A party. Anyone I should know?" he asked cheerfully.

"Our fat-faced friend, George Miller, he says his name is. A drummer. Morgan Drug Company."

"How do you do?" Marc cordially extended his hand to Miller.

The interruption restored some of Miller's composure.

"You fellows are trying to pin something on me. I demand my right to consult a lawyer before answering any more questions."

"Really I don't think that'll be necessary," said Marc soothingly. "You aren't accused of anything."

"Say," interrupted Anderson, "where you seen the last two days? You're not registered at any hotel, or did you use a phony name?"

Miller squirmed in his seat. "No, I didn't stay at a hotel. I stop here frequently and keep a room on Elm Street. It's more convenient."

"You must admit, Mr. Miller," Marc continued, "that your actions do appear puzzling. How'd it happen that you left the train at Calumet, instead of going on to Chicago?"

"I've told the policeman," replied Miller stubbornly. "I had some business to attend to here."

"Personal business, Mr. Miller?" asked Marc casually.

Miller hesitated. "Can I rely on your discretion if I tell you the whole story?"

"You better tell the story and take a chance on the discretion," said Anderson dryly.

"Well, you see, my wife is jealous, very jealous. Unfortunately, she learned some time ago that I've a friend in Calumet. A very good friend—in fact, a lady friend. Whenever I go on a trip my wife comes to the station to see that I don't buy a ticket to Calumet. The only way I can fix it is to buy a through-ticket and get off here."

"This lady friend' of yours, who is she?"

"What difference does it make to you?"

Anderson banged the desk with the flat of his palm. "Brother, I'm—"

"Jerry!" Marc interrupted sharply. "Nix!" Turning his head, he favored Anderson with a slow wink. "His reluctance to disclose the lady is understandable."

Anderson waved his hands in a gesture of defeat. "O. K., Joe. Take him out. Leave your name and address at the desk, and don't try a run-out powder."

As the policeman and Miller departed, Marc shook his head at Anderson.

"Jerry, you never learn! Let the fly tangle his own feet in the molasses!"

Stepping quickly to the door, he hurried down the stairs. Miller turned up the street to the right, and Marc followed. Suddenly he turned into a large ten cent store. There he reached the door in time to see him heading for a row of telephone booths. Noting that one next to Miller's was empty, Marc slipped into it as a coin clanged into a slot.

Concentrating intently, he listened to the faint metallic click of the dial. Soon the faint murmur of conversation came to his ears.

After several minutes, Miller clicked the receiver back on the hook and left the store. Marc dropped a coin and dialed a number. A clear voice came promptly to him over the wire. "Johnsons' residence."

Marc gasped softly. "May I speak to Mrs. Johnson—again?" he asked.

After a brief pause an impatient voice answered, "Yes, George, what is it?"

"Dorene," mumbled Marc into the palm of his hand. "Did I tell you to keep your mouth shut?"

"Of course, you stupid fool!" snapped Mrs. Johnson. "I'll talk you up tonight as I told you now. Get a grip on yourself! They haven't a thing on us. Don't call me again. You'll get us both in trouble. Good-bye."

Field Inspection Helps To Promote Soil Conservation

Many farmers have become interested in soil conservation through inspection of practices installed on other farms as a result of field days staged recently by several soil conservation districts in Pennsylvania, according to the State Soil Conservation Commission.

Approximately 200 Chester county farmers and sportsmen attended the field day sponsored by the Chester County Soil Conservation District in late September when three farms were visited for the purpose of showing various soil and wildlife conservation practices.

The Susquehanna County Soil Conservation District sponsored its first tour, covering eight farms within the county in mid-October. More than 75 farmers of the county were shown conservation practices such as diversion terrace drainage, cut back woods field borders, planted woods borders, land clearing, tree planting, pasture improvement, birdfoot trefoil, tile drainage in hardpan soils, strip cropping, multiflora rose planting and farm pond construction.

More than 250 farmers, businessmen and sportsmen attended the fourth anniversary dinner meeting of the Jefferson Soil Conservation District early last month. Various speakers addressed the meeting, including Oscar A. Kimmel, State Supervisor of Soil Conservation Districts.

There are now 27 soil conservation districts under full operation in Pennsylvania. Lancaster and Cambria counties were the most recent to have established county-wide districts through action by the Boards of County Commissioners in each county.

W P L REPORTING

In keeping with modern library practice, the Warren Public Library serves a conservative ration of crime, passion and cottage love. For those who are allergic to this diet, there are some special items offered.

One of these is "The Vexations of A. J. Wentworth," by Ellis. Mr. Wentworth is a school teacher whose efforts at discipline somehow always result in a misunderstanding as to his own position in the matter. It isn't that accidents happen to him; he seems to happen to accidents. This book is one of the best of the straight-faced humor school.

One of the best in the recent crop of humorous biography—or modern homespun—is the "Gibbreath" "Belle On Their Toes," the sequel to the very successful "Cheaper By The Dozen." This book continues the story of the large Gibbreath brood and their life with mother after the death of their father.

Another author who has won fame with the above formula is Betty (The Egg and I) MacDonald. Her latest is "Anybody Can Do Anything." It, too, is very amusing and recounts her adventures in and out of jobs during the depression.

"The Year of the Oath," by Stewart, is a dispassionate account of the loyalty oath fuss at the University of California. Writing with impersonal objectivity, Mr. Stewart relates the events, the statements made and the reasons given in this significant affair.

"Look Younger, Live Longer," by Hauser, is the book responsible for the "yogurt" signs on grocery stores. Mr. Hauser, who has no reverence for the overweight, proposes a diet, some exercises and a general way of life for those who would follow the title of his book.

"The English Scene of 2 day," by Mais, is an up-to-date account of life in England, outside of London. Mr. Mais has travelled through the English counties and talked with the people to discover the effect of their post-war life and government. This is an interesting book, alive with the actual opinions of real people.

Blood Collection at Youngsville Is Short of Intended Goal

Due to an unprecedented number of permanent and temporary rejections, last-minute cancellations and many no-shows, the November blood collection held at the Methodist church in Youngsville fell somewhat short of the planned goal.

From an expected 125 pints of whole blood, the Red Cross bloodmobile secured only 99 pints. Nevertheless local officials are pleased at the result of the Youngsville program and take this opportunity to thank every individual who in any way contributed to the collection.

Mrs. Howard Alexander, Warren canteen chairman, was assisted in Youngsville by Mrs. Betty Smith, Mrs. Beattie Barton, Mrs. Ethel Abraham, Mrs. Phyllis McCanna and Mrs. Carol Sittler. Those who served as transportation volunteers were Mrs. Nellie Anderson and Mrs. Louise Schuler.

Red Cross Volunteer Services chairman, Mrs. R. W. Steber, enlisted as blood program aides for the Youngsville collection the following Warren women: Staff aides—Martha Cressett, Gretchen Emhardt, Astrid Cowden, Mildred Blair; Nurse Aides—Marion Johnson, Gretchen Moll, Betty Proud, Esther Sontag, Estella Erickson; registered nurses—Hazel Sandeen, Helen Fino; Gray Ladies—Edith Dawson, Katherine Davis, Margaret Lewis, Mary Buerkle, Lalla May Clinger, Harriet Wade.

Special mention for outstanding achievement is due Elton Barton, Youngsville's member of the Red Cross board of directors, and Mrs. Frank Speer, who assisted with the difficult recruitment job.

Canteen supplies were donated by Smith-Horton, Walker Creamery Products, City Ice and Beverage Company, Anderson Baking Company in Warren and by the East End Grocery, Johnson Brothers and Quality Master Market in Youngsville. Thanks are also due the State Theatre for showing the special Blood Program film.

Now is the time to volunteer as a blood donor for the next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile in December. Phone 2926 for complete details.

The Nation Today

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, — (AP) — This is a refresher if you've lost track of the various steps taken toward unity in western Europe. That unity is far from complete.

But it has moved in three directions: economic, political, and military. And while the nations may set up little groups to work toward unity, they also are members of larger groups seeking the same thing. The memberships overlap. Here they are:

Economic — Benelux. The three Benelux countries — Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg — on Jan. 1, 1948, set up an economic union to permit free trade among the 20,000,000 people in their area. No complete trading union yet. Working at it. The three countries worked out this plan as early as 1944, started it in 1948.

OEEC. The organization for European economic cooperation started in July, 1947 among western European nations to decide what they needed, or could do without, under Marshall Plan aid. The Marshall Plan still pumps them aid. OEEC still operates. It has made some progress toward better economic cooperation among its members.

European payments union. This was created by OEEC so its members could trade more easily among themselves. It's a money plan for helping the members pay one another for what they buy and sell without getting into too much of a jam by being loaded down with, or short of, one another's currencies.

Uniscan. Britain and the Scandinavian countries — Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Iceland — formed a kind of limited customs union. It has removed some restrictions on payments between them and has set up committees to study further cooperation.

Customs union. France and Italy made an agreement in March, 1949, on eliminating trade restrictions between themselves. This hasn't gone into effect yet.

Schuman Plan. In May, 1950, French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman started Europe by suggesting a method he hoped might help Europe economically and end some of the ancient tension between France and Germany.

Political — Council of Europe. Opened Aug. 1, 1949. Set up to discuss Europe's problems, find ways of solving them. Something like a parliament. It's divided into two bodies: (A) A committee made up of the foreign minister of the member countries, meeting in secret; and (B) a consultative assembly made up of delegates from the member countries, meeting in public.

Military — Treaty of Dunkerque. On March 4, 1947 Britain and France signed a 50-year military alliance.

Brussels Pact. On March 17, 1948 Britain, France and the three Benelux countries—Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg — signed a 50-year military alliance. This Brussels Pact is also called "western union."

North Atlantic Pact. Signed April 4, 1949 by these 12: United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg, Iceland, Denmark, Norway, Portugal, Italy. They agreed an armed attack on one was an attack on all.

HOW Water Works

Since water in liquid form is transparent—Why is SNOW WHITE?...

Snowflakes are frozen water vapor, and the whiteness of snow is produced by reflection and refraction of light from the minute surfaces of the snowflakes.

Did you know?... Fifty years ago, there were nearly 100 deaths per year per 100,000 population due to TYPHOID FEVER. Today, less than one person in 100,000 per year dies of typhoid fever—due primarily to advances made in purification of public water supplies.

HUNTERS VISIT HOSPITALIZED KIDS ON HORSEBACK; DOGS GO ALONG

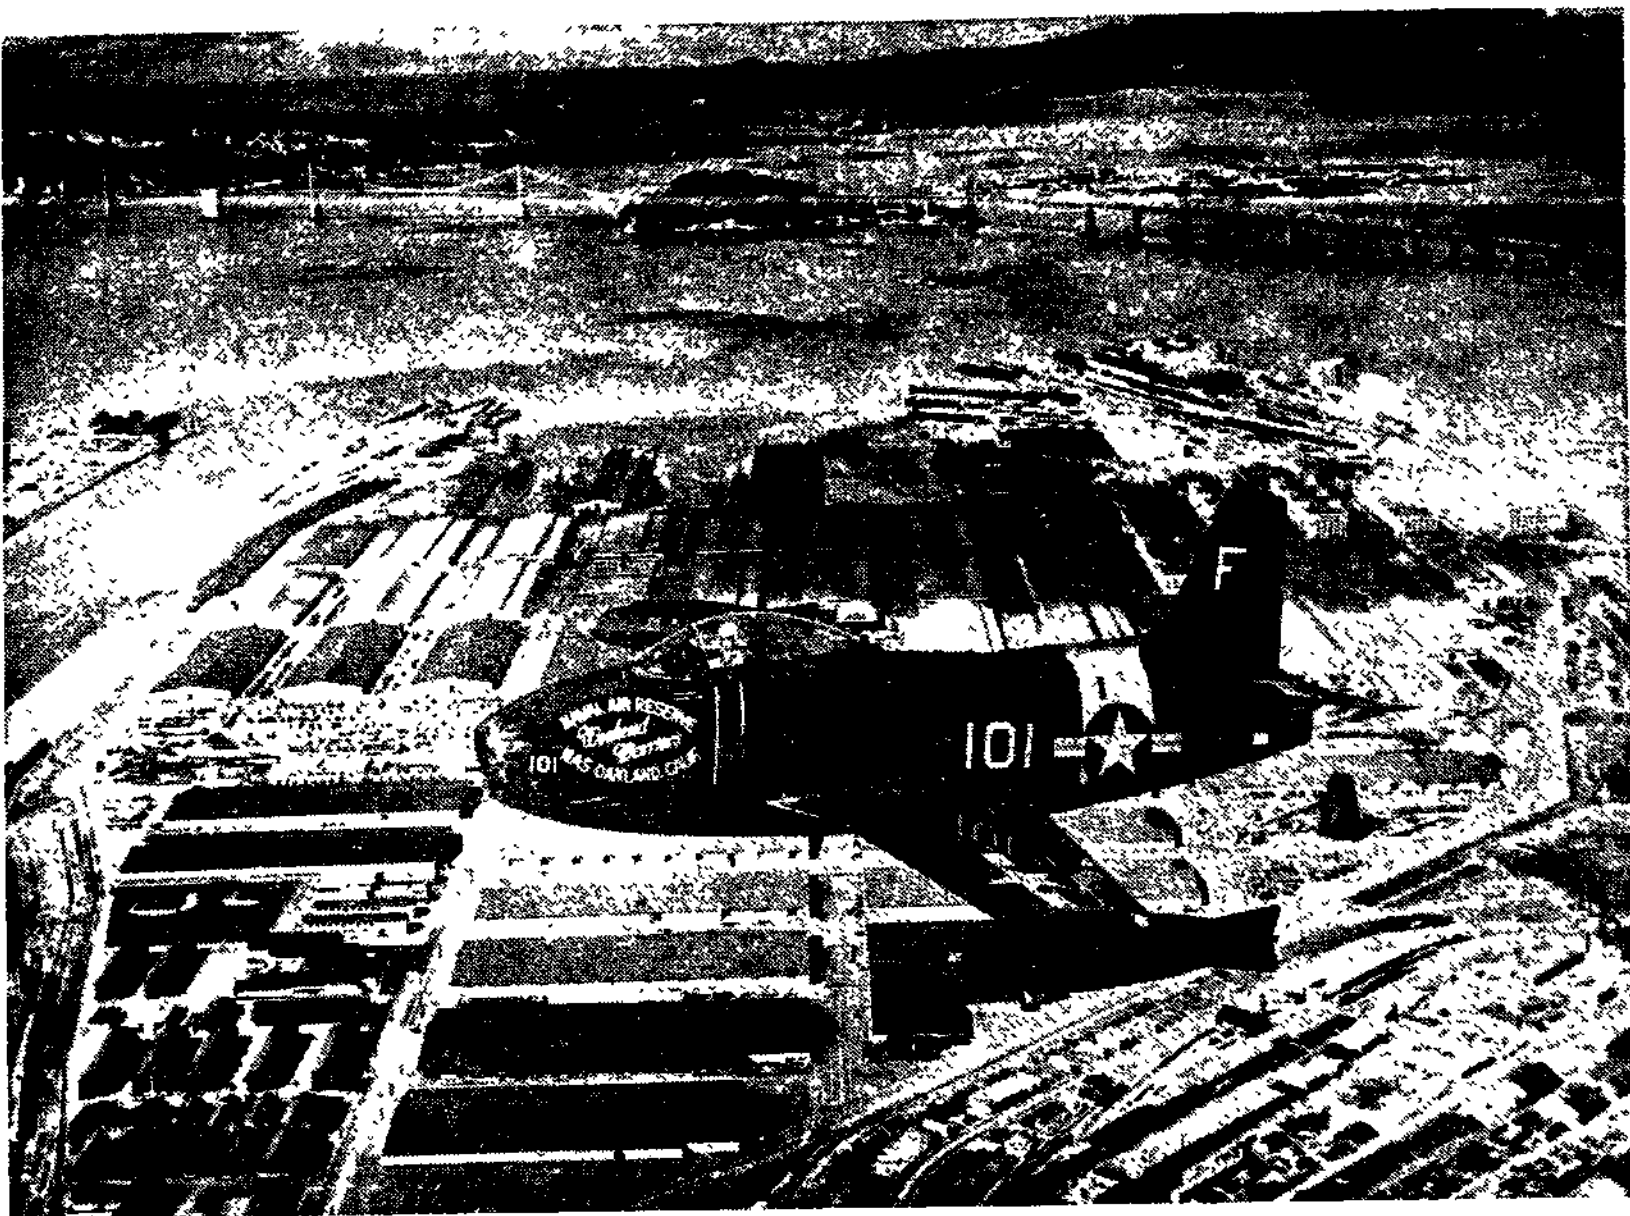

JOE DIMAGGIO VISITING IN JAPAN AND KOREA TO GIVE GI'S A TREAT

Copyright, 1950, by Acme Newspictures

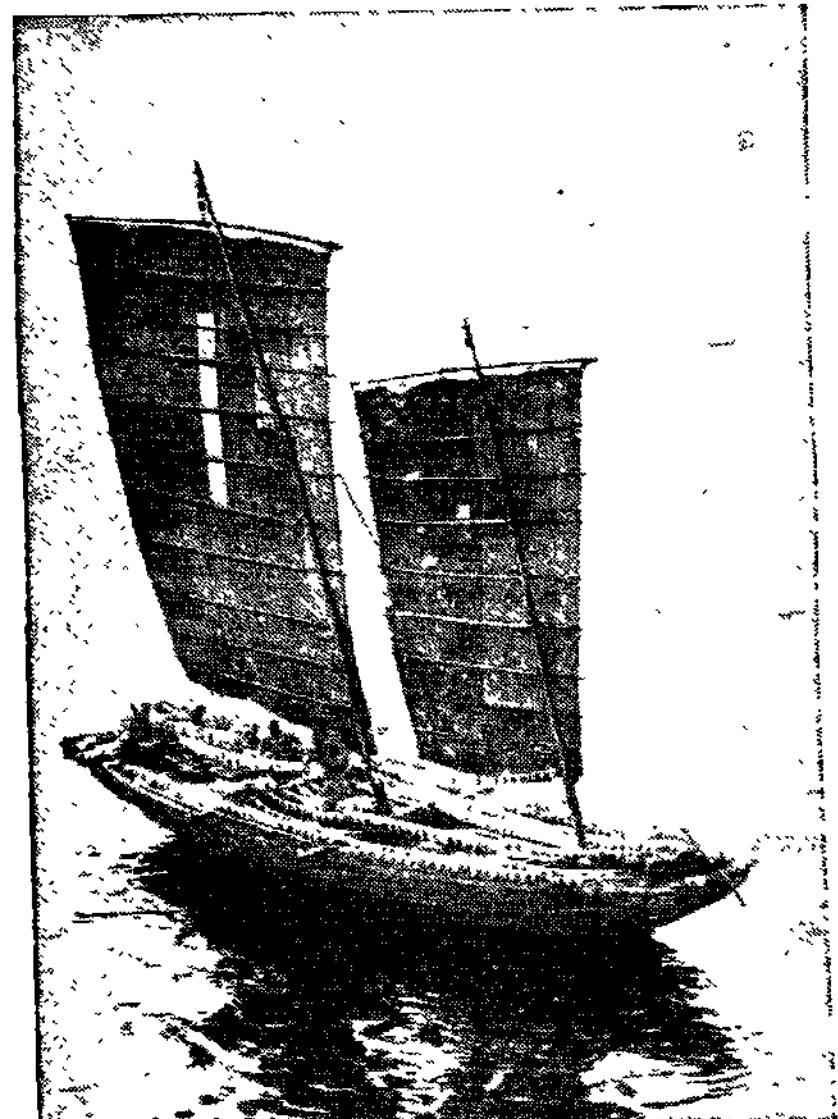

EASY TO GET AT—The jet powerplants on this new U.S.A.F. Northrop Scorpion F-89 twin-jet interceptor, shown in Hawthorne, Calif., can easily be swung out and down for quick accessibility to all parts. Work can be done on the ground level and the need to disconnect controls, wiring and plumbing is eliminated.

GOLDEN GATE GUARDIAN—This jet plane is flying directly over the huge Oakland, Calif., Supply Center. In the background is the suspension half of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, with San Francisco, left, the Golden Gate Bridge and the Pacific Ocean. The mountains in the background are in Marin County which separates the north parts of San Francisco Bay from the ocean.

MINING ITS BUSINESS?—Crewmen aboard this North Korean fishing boat stand by for inspection by a boarding party off the U.S.S. Maddox. The boat was suspected of laying mines in the waters off Korea. (U.S. Navy Photo from Acme.)

ALL THEIR OWN—These young patients of an Orthopedic hospital in Plymouth, England, are having their outdoor privacy invaded by some foxhounds, escorted by scarlet-clad hunters on horseback. The bed-ridden children enjoyed making friends with the dogs, horses and human beings.

A HIT IN JAPAN—Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, left, manager of the San Francisco Seals, and Yankee Clipper Joe DiMaggio were given bouquets by Japanese baseball fans in Tokyo. The two baseballers, who plan a tour of Japan and Korea, are there to entertain the GIs, but that doesn't prevent them from making a big hit with the Japanese with whom the game is very popular.

LET'S SEE, NOW—It's a big and bitter pill for Jamuna, the elephant, to swallow, but if pills as big as baseballs are to be swallowed, there's nobody better equipped for the job. Jamuna, who lives in the zoo at Auckland, N.Z., has stomach trouble and all that pill-pushing is done in the hope that an operation may be averted. Perhaps Jamuna would prefer surgery to the medicine.

RECORD BREAKER—Game and Fish Commission officials in Tennessee believe that this giant swamp cypress, near Memphis, may be the biggest and oldest tree east of the Rockies. It's 140 feet tall and is about 100 years old.

BRITAIN'S LATEST TANK—These Centurion tanks are shown going through a test on the road at the Royal Ordnance factory near Leeds, England. Production of the Centurions has increased 50 per cent since the British Government announced its new defense program. The 50-ton fighting vehicle is powered by a Meteor engine, an adaptation of the Rolls Royce Merlin.

AMONG THOSE PRESENT—Television star Faye Emerson stands beneath a portrait of Marcella Sembrich, who sang at the Met for many years, as she attended an opera performance in New York. Faye has also announced her engagement to musician Skitch Henderson.

HE NEEDS HELP—Vera Jean Hart is making herself useful in Warren, Utah. Because this little Holstein bull calf was born without a tail to wag away flies and annoying insects, the young lady uses a fly-swatter to make her pet comfortable. But he'll eventually have to depend upon some other way of being unmolested.

You Will Always Find A Friendly Welcome In The Churches Of Warren

Worshipping in Spirit

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

ONE of the most remarkable stories in the Bible is that of the meeting of Jesus and the "woman of Samaria," at Jacob's Well, near the Samaritan city of Sychar. It is recorded in the fourth chapter of John.

It is remarkable for various things besides its major declaration of the Messiahship of Jesus, and His words concerning worship. It was remarkable that the meeting should have occurred at all, for it was contrary to custom and the assumed proprieties of the time that a man and woman should have thus been conversing in a public place. When the man was a Jew and the woman a Samaritan, it was all the more amazing, as the woman herself indicated in her question to Jesus.

This aspect of the incident is important as it revealed how Jesus lived above the conventions and prejudices of His day, and practicing in His relationships the principles of the kingdom of love that He had come to establish.

But the great importance of the incident was in the statement of Jesus concerning worship in spirit and in truth. Nowhere else, except it be in later chapters of John, is the statement concerning God as a spirit, and true worship, quite so clearly enunciated. How did it come that so great a declaration should have been made to a woman, whose questionable character Jesus mildly but pointedly brought out?

Was it that he saw in this woman, beneath her unconventional "sex life," as one might call it today, the elements and possibilities of a nobler character, which seemed to emerge as she went in to the city?

Be that as it may, here is set down the greatest declaration concerning God and worship. Later translations omit the "a," saying only "God is spirit." This is conformable with God's being everywhere, in an age of radio, which has taught us to know that physical vibrations are everywhere present, we can comprehend more easily the mystery of God as Spirit, everywhere manifest, and everywhere to be worshipped.

The woman's question concerning Jerusalem and "this mountain" was historically apt. The tendency had been, as to some extent it is today, to localize worship in certain sacred places. At one period of reform in the religion of Israel a definite effort had been made to center all worship in Jerusalem, as a barrier against the idolatrous worship in the "high places." But the worship of God in spirit and in truth is the natural outcome of the realization of God's spiritual presence everywhere.

What does it mean to worship God in spirit and in truth? It means that worship is something more than bowing down, and performing certain rites. It means a perception of God as the One Supreme good, the source of righteousness and truth; and it means the yielding of the heart and mind to the quest of the knowledge of God and of the divine will.

As a friend used to say to me, "No religion is true that it is not as broad as a man's whole life." The spirit of man controls his whole being, and worship in spirit is the whole man reaching out toward God. That worship can, and must, be wherever man is, and holy places are holy only as they help in that omnipresent quest of the omnipresent God.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

COMPARE THESE TWO LINES OF PLAY

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service. Team contests at bridge are often very instructive, since when a hand is played in two different ways we can see which method leads to the better result. In today's hand for example, we can see how needless was the risk that one declarer took.

At both tables the North player preferred to open the bidding with one diamond instead of hiding the longer clubs. Each player thought he would have a chance to show the clubs later at a cheap level, whereas if he opened with one club he would later have to force the bidding uncomfortably high in diamonds.

Pleasure to see, fun to do! This picture can so easily be embroidered—it's in single and outline stitch. Frame or line it.

West took the ace of clubs, cashed the queen of hearts, and led a low heart. However, declarer ruffed with dummy's ace of trumps and later gave up a trump trick to West's queen. He lost only one trump, one heart and a club, making his contract.

At the other table the South player saw the risk of taking a trump finesse. As a matter of fact, there was some risk in leading trumps at all. Hence he led

Court Sends Two To the Workhouse

Presiding in Warren county court this morning, Judge Allison D. Wade handed down sentences in the county jail for two offenders and terms in Allegheny County Workhouse for two others.

Howard Culver, Russell R. D. 2, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile in committing larceny, was sentenced to pay a $25 fine, costs of prosecution and spend eight months in the workhouse.

Clark L. Bacon, Youngsville, arrested in connection with burglary and larceny of several business establishments in Youngsville during Fair Week, will pay the same amount in fines, the costs of prosecution and will serve six months in the workhouse.

Given $100 fines, costs of prosecution and county jail sentences of 10 and 15 days, respectively, were David Kerr, Warren State Hospital, and Frank Ewings, Sheffield, both charged with drunken driving.

Sentences for the four were handed down by Judge Wade after all had entered pleas of guilt to the charges.

One non-support case was also considered by the court and cases for trial in Common Pleas Court were reviewed. Starting Monday the court will be in session for two weeks.

THE MARKETS

New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The stock market followed a fairly steady price line today. There were few signs of any follow-through to the rally that started late yesterday however. A few rails, the spark plugs of the Thursday rally, continued to improve but by and large gains and losses were in fairly close balance. The Thursday recovery followed general selling in the morning. Prices changes today were limited to 50 cents a share or less for the most part. A moderate amount of business was done.

Col. Herbert B. Powell, 17th regiment commander, narrowly escaped death. Later he said his men would reach the Manchurian border "within three or four days."

The 17th's two-day toll of 370 Reds was topped by anti-guerrilla actions in the rear.

The U. S. 25th Division reported it killed 537 bypassed Communists Thursday in battles 60 miles south of the northwestern front.

A Red guerrilla command post was blown up by artillery and a ammunition depot in a cave was captured. Three hundred thousand rounds of mortar and artillery shells were in the cave, 20 miles east of Pyongyang, former Red capital.

Just outside this triangle, a small band of torch-bearing guerrillas set fire to the town of Kapyong, 32 miles northeast of Seoul, early Friday. Sweeping flames routed 8,000 civilians.

General MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo said North Korean Reds, bypassed in the U. N. sweep northward, have been reorganized under a central command. They are carrying on coordinated guerrilla raids to disrupt U. N. supply lines and keep themselves equipped.

Bell companies in the various states and Western Electric are subsidiaries of the parent American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Bell employees are not on strike but some long distance operators have refused to cross picket lines because they belong to the same union as the strikers—the CIO-Communications Workers of America.

Telephone service has continued with a few delays since the walk-out began in 44 states nine days ago.

Thus far state-wide injunctions are in effect in eight states—Alabama, Louisiana, Virginia, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Georgia, Mississippi, and North Carolina.

An injunction request was refused in Nebraska, where the court ruled a state law already banned picketing of public utilities. An injunction action is pending in New Jersey.

above other pending matters, Rover continued, "would not be consonant with the fine traditions of American justice."

He said he could not recall any capital case—that is, one involving possible execution—being brought to trial as speedily as suggested by Fay. Both Judge Schweinhaut and Fay said this was not true, that capital cases have been tried within two months after commission of the crime.

After hearing the arguments of Rover and Fay, Judge Schweinhaut gave the defense lawyers until Dec. 8 to file whatever motions they desire.

The entire proceeding today required only about 20 minutes.

FORMERLY OF WARREN

Belated news is received from New York City that Thomas W. White, former resident of Warren, died in that city October 20, aged 31 years and ill for only a short time. It was he recalled by older residents that Mr. White and his brother, Patrick, were both employed by the Pickett Hardware Company years ago and built what is still known as The White Block in Warren's East Side business section. They were widely known in earlier days for their successful oil operations in the Oklahoma fields, amassing a fortune estimated at several millions of dollars. Thomas White leaves no survivors, his wife, the former Anna McBride of St. Marys, and a son, Edward Justin White, having preceded him in death.

TWO ARE KILLED IN HIGHWAY COLLISION

Roaring Spring, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Collision of an automobile and a gasoline tank truck killed a young man and a young woman and critically injured two other persons last night on a highway three miles south of Roaring Spring.

The dead were Miss Janet Morgat, about 17, of Rainsburg, Bedford county, and William Dishong, 22, of Bedford R. D.

The driver of the truck, Clyde Clark, of Everett, Bedford county, was uninjured.

Pittsburgh Papers to Start Regular Editions Saturday

Papers—Post-Gazette, Sun-Telegraph and Press—said:

"The newspaper unions and publishers arrived at an agreement on the basis of which all employees shall return to work. Unsettled issues are being submitted to arbitration under agreed upon procedure.

"The full crews will report to work in most departments Friday (this morning). All three newspapers will publish regular Saturday editions. The Daily Reporter will cease publication with its Friday edition."

The Daily Reporter was a newspaper published through the cooperative effort of employees of the three dailies. It usually ran from six to eight pages and sold for five cents a copy on Pittsburgh newstands.

The agreement to arbitrate the back-pay and other issues came after an all-night marathon session.

Resumption of publication of the three papers had been delayed by the demands of editorial and other non-striking workers who had been idled when the dailies suspended shortly after the start of the mailers' strike.

The publishers reached a contract agreement with the striking mailers and truck drivers three days ago.

The non-striking workers—reporters, pressmen, printers, stereotypers and engravers—refused to return to work until the back-pay issue was cleared up.

Dean of Baseball Announcers Speaker At Banquet For Y. H. S. Football Team

In addition to a large segment of Youngsville, persons from Warren, North Warren and Jamestown were noted in the audience which assembled last evening in the Youngsville High School gym to hear Rosy Rowswell, dean of baseball announcers, talk to the Youngsville High School football squad and the Legion Junior League baseball team. The affair was sponsored by Halgren-Wilcox Post, American Legion, of Youngsville.

Rosy paid generous tribute to a town which would get behind a losing team, and pointed out that it was easy to ride along with a winner. He directed his talk mostly at the young folks, making his own brand of humor and seriousness to make his points. He is a master story teller and takes full advantage of the fact.

Willard Munson, past commander of the Legion, welcomed the assemblage and called upon Rev. William A. Chamosclair, Jr., vicar of St. Francis Episcopal church, to deliver the invocation.

Lyle N. Schuler, Youngsville news reporter, and Times-Mirror representative, acted as toastmaster, and introduced Coach Frank Karnus and his assistant Warren Carr. Dave Warner, on behalf of the football team, thanked the Legion for the dinner, and

MOOSE LEAGUE

J. Waples, anchor for the Yankees, fired a blistering 644 series to lead his team to a clean sweep of the match points against the Red Sox in Moose Club tenpin league action last night. He opened with 178, fired a 216 in the second round, and then pummeled the maples for 250 in the windup.

Waples' big series overshadowed the efforts of J. Johnson, leadoff for the Red Sox, who hit for 183-194-212-589.

A second league match ended in a 3-1 triumph for the White Sox over the A's. Scoring:

Yankees 208 840 911-2359
Red Sox 663 815 850-2333
White Sox 779 787 638-2204
A's 701 707 655-2073

In 1421 approximately 100,000 lives were lost when huge sea waves burst the dikes protecting The Netherlands and destroyed 72 villages.

HIGHLIGHTS on SPORTS

By LOU CARLSON

The Flying Parson

Gilbert Lohrath (Gil) Dodds, the "Flying Parson," set a new track record at the meet held in Madison Square Garden, (N. Y. C.) when he ran the mile in 4:07.3 (four minutes, seven and three-tenths seconds) March 11, 1944. It bettered the previous record held jointly by Chuck Fenske, Les MacMillan and Glenn Cunningham, for the eleven-lap indoor track, by a tenth of a second. Not a big difference in time perhaps, but still faster than any human being had ever run the mile before.

Just one week later Gil broke another world's record, clocking 4:06.4 in the famous Banker's Mile in Chicago. Glenn Cunningham had won four indoor mile events running under 4:09 in eight seasons and had always been considered America's ace of the mile. He was not only beaten by Gil's time that night, but his record of 4 races was topped by Gil who had built up an impressive total of winning seven races under 4:09 in only three seasons. Dodds, who was studying to be a minister, was well named the "Flying Parson."

Defense - Offense Moriah Lutheran Gridiron Strategies Church Is Planning Get a Severe Test For Pledge Week

New York, Nov. 17 — (P)—Take a team that has given up but 35 points in seven games. Toss it against one that has hit foes for an average of almost 40 points per game and you've got Illinois and Ohio State.

These two big 10 powerhouses clash in the feature football attraction Saturday, and to the victor probably will go—according to who wins—either the conference title or a bid to the Rose Bowl.

Ohio State, with its overwhelming offensive power, is shooting only for the big 10 championship because it cannot go back to the Rose Bowl, having played there last New Year's Day. For Illinois, a victory would mean an almost sure bid to the classic—and a possible shot at the league crown. In order for Illinois, a rockribbed defensive outfit, to win the title, it must beat the Buckeyes and Northwestern on Nov. 25, while Ohio State also bows to Michigan.

Wisconsin, which also would like to get into the picture, has only one league game left, that against Minnesota on Nov. 25. This week, the Badgers play Pennsylvania at Philadelphia in an inter-league match.

The Penn-Wisconsin Ivy League—big ten affair will be the first game between these two schools since 1931. The Badgers probably will rule favorites, although not by much since Penn has been exceeding expectations.

Army, third-ranked team in this week's Associated Press poll behind Ohio State and Oklahoma respectively, is on the west coast to tackle Stanford in an effort to stretch its undefeated skin to 28 straight.

Army rules a heavy favorite, for Stanford has won five, tied one and lost two in eight outings.

Oklahoma, rolling with a 28-game winning streak, plays Missouri at Norman, and is a heavy favorite.

In another top big seven contest, Iowa State will have the unenviable task of trying to devise ways and means of stopping Nebraska's Bobby Reynolds at Lincoln.

On the West Coast, the fearsome Golden Bears of California, with a Rose Bowl bid virtually clinched, play San Francisco, which should prove no problem. After that, Pappy Waldorf's team tackles Stanford in its league finale on Nov. 25.

In the Ivy League Princeton, seventh in the country, tangles with Yale and Dartmouth plays Cornell. The feature Southern Conference attractions Pit Clemson against Furman and Wake Forest against North Carolina State.

LEAGUE EXECS TALK DOLLARS AND CENTS

Cincinnati, Nov. 17 — (P)—Major league's baseball bosses talked in terms of a lot of dollars yesterday.

They decided to turn $975,000 of revenue from 1950 World Series radio and television rights into a fund for payments of annuity and life insurance for ball players.

And they paid out $239,500 for 26 players they drafted from minor leagues.

Twenty-two of those 25 came from Class AAA clubs which are involved in a mixup because the Pacific Coast League wants to be exempt from the draft. One proposal still hanging fire is that the draft price be fixed for clubs in those leagues.

Thirteen of the sixteen clubs drafted one or more men. The only ones which passed the whole thing were the St. Louis Cardinals, New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers.

The owner of the Oakland Oaks, Clarence Laws, also sizzled when he found George Metkovich, his top-notch outfielder, had been drafted by Pittsburgh for $10,000. Laws termed it "out and out robbery" and recalled that he shelled out $25,000 for Metkovich just last winter.

THE SCOREBOARD

It's Worn-Out Lungs, Not Legs, That Slow Up Aging Athletes

BY HARRY CRATSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—An interesting bit of information is embodied in the research of Prof. Harvey C. Lehman, who devoted years to discovering that athletes are at their best between the ages of 27 and 28, inclusive.

Professor Lehman, who specialized in establishing the exact years when persons in the arts and professions are at their peak, arrived at the conclusion concerning sports participants checking the careers of 10,000 performers.

The Ohio University savant laboriously examined the records of 1686 major league pitchers to discover that the hurler is at maximum efficiency at 27, when he can count on 4.39 good years.

Studying 3126 major leaguers other than pitchers, Professor Lehman found them at the top at 28, with a summit spread of 4.64 years.

While not a few contend a combatant's eyes go first, the generally accepted idea is that it is the legs.

In his newest The All-Sports Record Book, the indefatigable Frank G. Menke refutes this, however, with a statement by a member of the New York coroner's staff, who says:

"Performing more than 4500 autopsies, I never found a body beyond 39 years of age which did not show a deterioration in the lungs."

"It is this, I am sure, which explains why athletes begin to slow up at that age."

"It is to be observed that when athletes have amazing lungs, they carry on far into the 30s and, in some rare instances, until beyond 40, thus disproving the theory that legs fail an athlete after 30."

Maybe the man is right—and Joe Louis should wear an oxygen tent when the Old Brown Bomber tackles young Cesar Brown, the Argentine Collier Ad, at the Chicago Stadium, Nov. 19.

In the era up to 1910, the fast-out like the All-Sports Record Book reveals, there were twice as many Croves in the prime age as in all the time since.

Early-day warriors had their gangs parked in the rivals' corners, bats were heavy.

Unless one fighter completely outscored the other, referees took no chances.

It was a draw.

Then war the days.

Sale of E Bonds Rises In October

Sales of Series E, F and G
U. S. Savings Bonds have increased each month since July in this state.

Ramsey S. Black, state director, vision, announced that the sale of state during the month of October 1950 totalled $23,764,800 and the overall sales of Series E, F and G Savings Bonds amounted to $30,926,605.

"Sales of Series E Savings mostly at plants through the Payroll Savings Plan, showed not only an increase over sales for the past few months but also over October 1949," said Black.

"Savings Bonds," he further stated, "are anti-inflationary, give purchasers a share in America and there is no safer way to save for what you desire in the future."

E Bond sales in Warren County for the month of October reached $25,318.50 and overall Series E,
F and G Bond sales totalled

Police acted upon four routine calls last evening. One was to pick up an old offender on the west side, one to round up a noisy gang in the business center, a third to disperse a gang of disorderly boys who were bothering a baby sitter on the east side, and the last to pactify a family battle on Jackson

WHAT IS A MUTUAL INVESTMENT FUND??
In a Mutual Fund you and thousands of others combine your money into a single fund aiming for income and profits.
As you share in the earnings and ownership of many securities in the fund, the value of your fund shares rises and falls with changes in the market value and earnings of the fund's securities.

Today 1,000,000 people from all parts of the country have more than $2,000,000,000 of their money in Mutual Funds because they can share in the ownership of MORE SECURITIES than most of them could buy separately, thus getting a MORE DEPEND-ABLE INCOME than from most common stocks and MORE EX-PERIENCED supervision than they could otherwise obtain.
